Personal Items for Boarding Patients

Your pet having his/her personal belongings (toys, treats, blankets) while boarding is important to Poquoson Veterinary Hospital and your family pet. Being away from the family is not always easy on our four-legged friends and having a touch of home with them can be comforting.

However, there are special considerations to make when your pet is boarding. While your pet may have a special bed, blanket or toy that he would never chew up at home, he may decide to chew it up while in a kennel away from home. We ask that no irreplaceable/meaningful/non-washable items be left with your pet while he stays with us.

Please read and sign the following waiver when leaving any personal items for your pet:

- I will label ALL personal items with my pet's first and last name using a permanent marker.
- I understand that Poquoson Veterinary Hospital is not responsible for loss or damage to personal items left with my pet, including collars and leashes. I understand that personal items may not be returned in the same condition in which they were left and some personal items may be damaged to the point of being discarded.
- I understand that I am not to leave any irreplaceable or non-washable items.
- I understand that leaving personal items with my pet could pose a serious health risk if (s)he were to ingest them. I also understand that even some treats can potentially pose a health risk if they are ingested without chewing properly. This could lead to an emergency situation and I will not hold Poquoson Veterinary Hospital liable for any of the damage or costs associated with treatment.
- I understand that the veterinarians have the right to withhold any personal items from my pet if they foresee a health risk.
